

OVERVIEW

EnvoyCon 2020 held virtually on October 15, 2020, brought together the international Envoy community through virtual sessions, networking pairings, sponsor booths, and social feeds. Speakers answered live questions and interacted with attendees over two tracks comprised of 34 sessions focusing on Envoy in-production, the xDS ecosystem, novel extensions, Envoy core development, implementation, and integration.

Registrants were 70% developers and 5% executives. Of the developers, 86% considered themselves full stack developers and 11% said they were web developers.

Eighty-eight percent of attendees surveyed found the event to be valuable and would attend another virtual event.

TWEETS

TheChrisShort: EnvoyCon was pretty great lachlaneverson: EnvoyCon was excellent - the end user track was dope
danpopnyc: I know those amazing faces.
maulion: movin up the stack 🤖
 Replying to @caniszczyk: there will be more 10...
lachlaneverson: That is an excellent link. Thanks for sharing!
vemu1982: missed EnvoyCon 🙄
major20: +1 Envoycon was great!

Yuki Sawa @yukisww · Oct 15
 Great talk on Envoy tooling I hadn't heard of before. "Safely deploying a 100K line Envoy YAML configuration to production". Love the insights on how the OG Envoy company does things at scale. sched.co/ecd4
